COTTON CONSUMPTION IS LOGICAL SOLUTION

THE ONLY WAY TO HANDLE THE SITUATION.

WILL GET RESULT

If Business Men and Industries Desire to Help the Farmer, Then Use More Cotton.

The reasonable and only logical way to help the Southern cotton farmer in his time of need, according to a well-known attaché of the Anderson chamber of commerce, is for the business men and industries of the South to use more cotton instead of other material in shipping their products.

In talking yesterday to a reporter for The Intelligencer, this gentleman said:

"It has been clear from the first that consumption was the key to the cotton problem, and that plans for holding supplies off the market and curtailing production were but means for stimulating demand. Withholding supplies is not consumption, and curtailment of production is not a price factor because wanting assurance of certainty; and all plans for offering immediate enhancement of price have failed from various reasons, relief is to be found only in immediate and substantial consumption."

"The South is in position to sensibly enlarge the demand for cotton in at least one practical way, and this county endorses and earnestly recommends the adoption of the following plan:

"That the rice mills, grain elevator companies, cotton oil mills, flour and cotton mills of the country be urged to use cotton bagging for shipping packages, and the chambers of commerce and boards of trade of the South, as well as individual merchants, move vigorously in bringing the matter to the attention of the trade."

"Resolved, That a copy of this action be sent to the chambers of commerce and boards of trade of the South with request for their cordial co-operation."

ROBERT EMMETT COX HAS PASSED AWAY

Prominent Citizen of Abbeville Died at Greenwood Hospital Saturday Morning.

(Greenwood Journal.)
After an illness of less than two weeks Mr. Robert Emmett Cox, one of the leading and most popular citizens of Abbeville county, died at the Greenwood hospital Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Cox was brought to Greenwood on Tuesday, September 29, suffering with an acute attack of appendicitis. Preparations were made for an operation, but it was found that his condition would not warrant it.

The body will be taken to Abbeville Saturday afternoon and the funeral will be conducted in the Presbyterian church of that city on Sunday. The interment will be made in Upper Long Cane cemetery by the side of his father who passed away a number of years ago.

Mr. Cox was a native of Abbeville county, having been born near the county seat about 45 years ago. For a number of years he served as trial justice and later was elected auditor of the county which position he filled most acceptably for four terms. After retiring from this office Mr. Cox, with Dr. Goode Thompson, organized the People's Bank of Abbeville, one of the most thriving financial institutions of the county. He was cashier of this bank from its organization. He was also president of the Abbeville Warehouse Company.

TEACHERS CLUB HELD INTERESTING MEETING

SEVERAL GOOD PAPERS ARE READ BY MEMBERS.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Delightful Luncheon Served by Domestic Science Class After Conclusion of the Exercises.

The Anderson County Teachers club met Saturday morning at the West Market High school, for the first session of the year. There was an unusually good attendance on this meeting, and several most highly praised papers were read by members. Among these may be mentioned an interesting and helpful paper on Latin in the schools, by Prof. C. D. Coleman; a reading by Miss May Hinnant, Pendleton; a splendid paper on discipline by Mrs. Lottin C. Bates, Anderson. Miss Cole entertained the audience by rendering one of her songs in inimitable manner.

The election of officers resulted as follows:
President, Prof. D. A. Welborne, principal of the Williamston schools; vice president, Miss Nell Cochran, Anderson City schools; secretary, Miss Lillian Clinkscales, of the McLees school.

At the conclusion of the regular program, Mr. W. W. Smoak, editor of The Intelligencer, appeared before the teachers and proposed to start a school page in the Intelligencer devoted to the schools of the county. His plan, in brief, was to furnish each school wishing to enter into the plan a copy of the Daily Intelligencer free during the school year in exchange for a weekly letter of the news of the school, and a letter of the happenings of the community. He suggested that the pupils in the more advanced grades be given this as an English exercise, and the best paper presented on each of the subjects be sent to the paper for publication in the school page. Cards were passed around and practically all the schools present gave in the names of their schools.

At the conclusion of the exercises a delightful repast was served by Miss Georgia Marshall's class in domestic science. These young ladies showed the care in training they have received at Miss Marshall's hands. The luncheon was prepared in the model kitchen of the West Market school.

Among those present were the following, the list having been secured from the Prof. T. L. Hanna, of the Pendleton High school, who was president of the association during the last term:

HOTEL HAPPENINGS AROUND THE CITY

WHAT VISITORS TO ANDERSON SAY.

ALL ARE PLEASED

Say That Anderson Business Does Not Reflect That There Are Hard Times.

"Fairfax Harrison is the most optimistic man in the South and one who reads his statements as contained in the Southern press relative to the European war and the visit opportunities the South has to extend her trade possibilities both beyond the Equator and in the Orient must indeed feel that the South is lucky to have such a man at the head of one of her great systems, said Mr. A. G. Wilson of Florida at the Columbia last night. "What I like about Mr. Harrison is his ability to see conditions in the South not as they temporarily are today, but as they are bound to be in the very near future; he is just the kind of man to insure confidence in the South and to accurately estimate her possibilities. I understand he is also a good friend of Anderson."

"I believe conditions in Anderson are better than in any other size city in the cotton belt, according to the business I have received at any rate. I was surprised at the great amount of building going on here. My business is connected with the building trade and I know it to be a fact that the life on the streets of your city is ahead of anything I have seen for the past sixty days in the entire South, and I have been over most of it," said Mr. A. L. LaFon of the LaFon Metallic Co. of Philadelphia, a guest at a local hotel yesterday. Mr. LaFon covers the whole United States once every two years and gives it as his opinion that the war in Europe is bound to help the South and especially the Carolinas. He stated he looked for great prosperity in this section after the holidays.

"I have never seen a building go up so fast as the new theatre; the contractors mean to get through as soon as possible, and they are building the structure along modern lines too," said Rufus Fant, the well-known newsdealer and stationer yesterday, when in conversation with The Intelligencer man. Mr. Fant stated that he, as well as all the other members of the Board, were well pleased with the leasing contract entered into by the Directors, and he also said he hoped to see the theatre part of the building completed by Christmas.

"The time to have Anderson is this winter and we should have at least 20 miles of streets and have the work either done or well under way by summer. When money is slightly tight as at present is the time to lay bonds and do public work. Anderson is behind the procession in street paving and we must do something. I understand the city council favors pushing the matter as much as possible. I have talked to quite a number of our most progressive people recently, especially since the recent wet spell, and they all are impressed with the necessity of doing this work now," said Judge Cox yesterday when discussing street paving with a party of business men interested in the matter.

101 RANCH HAS A GREAT MANY NEW ACTS.

COMING HERE SOON

Anderson Audiences Will Get a Breath of Real Life of the Far West.

The 101 Ranch Wild West, the largest traveling exposition of historical and romantic western life in the world, will visit this city on Tuesday, October 27, giving two performances and inaugurating its appearance with a gala morning street parade. Miller Bros. and Arlington, the owners promise an entertainment surpassing in magnitude, accuracy of treatment and instructive interest anything of its character ever seen under canvas.

One of the advance agents characterizes the show as "The Famous 101 Ranch, of Billie, Okla., transported in veritable miniature for a day to this city." The cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, horses, cattle and buffaloes all have permanent homes on the Oklahoma prairie. Only the several scores of Mexicans, Cossacks, Texas Rangers and Northwestern mounted police are not regularly enrolled employees of the ranch.

The record of 101 Ranch Wild West unprecedented in the history of the circus. Though but four years old it has appeared in every big city in this country, travelled as far north into Canada as the railroad penetrates and shown its wonders to Mexico City, Mexico. Its success has been no more spontaneous than enduring. Always and everywhere crowds have blocked to its performance, never seeming to tire of its stirring, unthought scenes and movement.

The organization which is coming to this city is an amplified edition of the show which has startled the amusement world for three years. It is a living pageant from frontier history, without professionalism or theatrics. It is solely a "real" wild west show. Every feature and figure is legitimate, faithful and characteristic. Without variation of illusion, the primitive sports, perils, pastimes, hardships, adventures, chivalries and routine duties of the ranch, range and roundup are reproduced in a great arena up at 101 Ranch, tournament, from its very nature and source, is different from anything ever shown before under canvas, it is promised.

Miller Bros. & Arlington give assurance that none of the hackneyed, tiresome, familiar round of other so-called and mis-called "wild west" exhibitions enters into its roaring, rollicking and reckless displays. It is fresh, clean and wholesome, fairly tingling with the breath of prairie and mountain. There is not a man or woman in it who has not learned the secrets of the border are not in the sage-brush and the prairie who cannot read the grass and the sky with understanding eyes. The grand entry at each performance is a veritable echo of the plains and the cattle trail.

Among the numerous exclusive new features on this year's program is the appearance of the Cheyenne champions of last year's Frontier Day. The men and women whose nerve, skill and daring won for them the honors of the contests which were open to the world are all enlisted under the 101 Ranch Wild West standard. They are led by Miss Goldie St. Clair, Oklahoma-miss who won the "bucking" horse championship, and who was personally and publicly complimented by President Roosevelt, who watched her exhibition from the grand stand. Miller Bros. & Arlington have aspired to make their preliminary street parade a pageant that will remain a glorious memory to all who view it. Every person and every animal with the organization is required to be in line. The cavalcade stretches more than a mile in length. It is a moving summary of the west which knew no barred wire or blocked trails.

ANDERSON WILLING TO HELP MOVEMENT

FOR GETTING FOREIGN THE TRREIGN TRADE HERE.

WORK UNDER WAY

Business Men and Chamber of Commerce To Co Operate in the Combined Efforts.

The traffic committee of the Anderson chamber of commerce is in receipt of a letter from the freight traffic manager of the Southern railway in which that official asks if this city will be willing to aid in an effort to bring part of the trade with foreign countries, and more especially South America, to South Carolina. The business men of the city have evinced much interest since the letter was received.

"This special letter deals with the prospects for interesting the South American trade and gives complete details as to how this country may work up a credit in the sale of South American goods and as a system of exchange the letter advocates the organization of a bank capitalised at $1,000,000, to be located in Rio de Janeiro or San Paulo. This bank would handle all bills of exchange and would protect the American interests."

In his letter here the Southern railroad man says that the Brazilian Government could be asked to purchase bonds of the bank and to work up collateral and would doubtless agree to this request.

"The railroad man urges that the assistance of every business man in the South be secured as soon as possible and actual work begun with a view to securing the biggest portion of the foreign trade."
